

"Our aim is to recognize our customers' current and future needs in the field of applied electronics and medical devices - high-quality and fast ... "

Developing products and services

JABLOTRON ALARMS a.s. combines its prosperity and advantage in an effort to satisfy its customers' present needs and anticipate their future ones. It is committed to offering products and services that are innovative, attractive, reliable, secure and have a high utility and aesthetic value that meet international standards.

Customer orientation

JABLOTRON ALARMS a.s. provides its customers with the necessary information, services and support, it offers high-quality service and technical support. It systematically collects and assesses customers' comments and wishes and reacts to them.

Successful sales

Products from JABLOTRON ALARMS a.s. must be available to those interested in a broad network of carefully selected, qualified business partners at attractive prices. Meeting the agreed and declared terms for cooperation goes without saying.

Flawlessly running the company

With our internal behaviour we will actively strive to make sure that all our employees' activities lead to a systematic improvement of internal processes, enhancing qualifications, supporting our good name and reflecting a high quality and professional approach.

A secure approach

We attach great importance to securing the information that has been entrusted to us and that we handle. We see ensuring the corresponding level of protection as a responsibility, so we are actively building an integrated and well-managed system of balanced security measures. We require a similar approach from our partners and suppliers, who we carefully select to ensure the security, development and operation of the Cloud.

„The product range for the customer can only be sold by a perfectly functioning company.“

Václav Kraus

Executive Director
JABLOTRON ALARMS a.s.

In Jablonci nad Nisou, 14. 2. 2023